WOLF HAVEN INTERNATIONAL SELECTED FOR CENTRAL CASCADES MAP

Hidden jewel included on National Geographic Society map

TENINO, WA - Wolf Haven International, a sanctuary for displaced wolves, located 41 miles south of Tacoma, was selected to appear on a new National Geographic map of the Central Cascades. This is a notable accomplishment - - out of 1,200 businesses and attractions nominated by the community, only 213 were selected.

The Central Cascades map highlights places and experiences within a specific area of Washington and Oregon. Residents submitted their own personal stories explaining why the attractions they selected are special. The National Geographic Society partnered with Travel Oregon and Washington State Tourism on the project, which was then created by National Geographic cartographers. Wolf Haven appears in the "Local Visionaries" theme of the geotourism map, which was developed with the goal of increasing ecotourism in the Central Cascades.

The map can be downloaded free online or purchased at select locations. For more information, visit www.thecentralscascades.com.
